

Laney Cheese Sponsors County's 12th barn quilt

Laney Cheese, owned by Brad and Lani Stiede, has sponsored Shawano County's 12th barn quilt. The pattern they chose for their quilt is called "Starry Path" and was selected because "we thought it would really stand out and draw attention on our white building," Lani said. "It's really a unique, fun design."

Laney Cheese is located at W1031 Main Laney Drive, Pulaski. It has been in operation since 1963. Brad's grandfather, Walter Schreiber, and his great uncle, Earl Schreiber, were the first of three generations to own Laney Cheese. In 1974, Wally bought out his brother and started the cheese store with his family. Wally's daughter, Jane, and her husband, Bob Stiede, then took over. In 1990, the factory stopped making cheese, but the cheese store continued. In 1993, Brad and Lani joined the family business and are the current owners.

Laney Cheese specializes in aged cheddar cheeses up to 10 years of age. They also offer fresh cheese curds and fresh Colby cheese. The traditional peel-apart string cheese, cheese whips and smoked string cheese are part of the vast array of cheeses offered. Along with the cheese, locally produced honey and maple syrup are also sold.
